

ASIIP Publications

The Editorial Committee is very proud to announce the launching of a new activity, that of publishing books relating to Adlerian Psychology. The first publication marks the completion of an important text planned and written jointly over a number of years by two well known Adlerians, Steve Slavik and James W. Croake.

Adlerian Psychology as a Learning Theory is unique because, in the words of the authors, it recasts the concept of Life Style as a process learned in childhood that subsequently guides what people learn and how they do so. It not only discusses learning theory from the perspective of Individual Psychology, but also the Life Style as a continuous process in life, an aspect not always made explicit in Adlerian contexts.

The book sells at the price of £9.50 plus p&p.

How to order, visit the site:

<http://www.adleriansociety.co.uk/phdi/p3.nsf/supppages/0939?opendocument&part=4>

“Two ways to buy 'Adlerian Psychology as a Learning Theory'”

1. Send your order by post using the downloadable order form and enclosing a cheque.
2. Send your order by email, making sure to include your full postal address, and pay via PayPal (either with a PayPal account or by debit/credit card) using the drop-down menu below.

Adlerian Psychology as a Learning Theory

Full price inc. p&p to UK only £11.00 GBP

Full price inc. p&p to Europe airmail £14.00 GBP

Full price inc. p&p to outside Europe airmail £15.00 GBP

Full price inc. p&p to outside Europe surface mail £13.50 GBP